Learn Successful, Proven Methods to Deal with Nuisance Wildlife in August

Seminars on “How to Deal with Nuisance Wildlife” are being held in Crestview and Niceville in August. The free program and materials covered include coyote and black bear encounters, dealing with raccoons, armadillos, squirrels and woodpeckers, as well as identification and options for snakes on your property.

The seminars are developed and taught by the University of Florida, Okaloosa County Extension with assistance from Florida Fish and Wildlife Commission. Programs are free. If you would like more information, contact 850-689-5850.
