Okaloosa County Launches New Web Site

Okaloosa County's new, improved web site is now live. "It has been ten years since the web site has gone through a redesign, and it was just time to clean out the closet," stated Kathy Newby, public information officer. "Hopefully the result will be a more streamlined, user-friendly and creative web site."

New features to the web site include an expanded Commissioners Corner with public notices highlighted on the home page, as well as a new Hotline link, which will be Okaloosa County's online forum to provide detailed information about "hot button" issues and inside information about how your county government works. Daily weather forecasts can also be found on the home page.

There is more – web site visitors can download a scenic beach photo wallpaper, as special offer for checking out the new web site, now located at www.okaloosafl.com.

"Though I don't think anyone will have any issues conducting business on the Okaloosa County site; I do expect a few glitches however, and request patience while we go through this initial launch period and final proofing stage," Newby added. "There are additional pages that must be added and updated since we began the process." Any questions or concerns please call 850-651-7270 or email knewby@co.okaloosa.fl.us.
